Slayton Search Partners Launches Redesigned Website, Highlights Focus on Client Experience

Bill Morris

SENIOR VICE PRESIDENT & CFO

Chicago, IL – Slayton Search Partners, a globally respected leader in retained executive search, is excited to announce the launch of their new website at slaytonsearch.com.

When Slayton embarked on the website redesign journey, the primary goal was to reflect their commitment to an exceptional client experience. The result is a sophisticated, streamlined design that reinforces the high value that Slayton delivers to each and every client and candidate.

Featuring a bold design, concise messaging, and people-focused imagery, the new site communicates the breadth of Slayton’s expertise in serving a global audience across a wide range of industries and functions.

“Our intention with the redesign was to go beyond providing factual information, to portray our true differentiators in the marketplace, particularly in the realm of the client experience,” comments Richard Slayton, Managing Partner and CEO. “The last year has taught us that the human experience is a critical component that organizations have historically overlooked. At Slayton, we are proud of our rich connections with clients, and we’re excited to launch a fresh, innovative web design that highlights this commitment.”
